

What quota should be applied to Mexican cable tray supports

Overview

Mexico does not have any absolute quotas, but it does have a number of tariff-rate quotas (TRQs), which provide for the entry of a specified quantity of the product at a reduced rate of duty during a given period. In particular, originating goods of Parties to this Agreement included under this Appendix shall be subject to the rates of duty set out in this Appendix. What is an import quota and how does it affect goods manufactured in Mexico?
